

WELCOME

On behalf of London College of Music, University of West London, welcome to this evenings concert at St Mary's Church. I am delighted to welcome back the Band of the Coldstream Guards.

We are most grateful for the contribution of our guest Conductor this evening, Major Simon Haw, featured pianist Dr Emilie Capulet (Head of Classical Music at LCM), LCM Camerata Music Director/Conductor Simon Rigby (Senior Lecturer at LCM) and Paul Ayres (LCM Chorus Musical Director).

LCM Camerata have gone from strength to strength this year beginning the academic year with a performance at the Oxo Tower of 'Onglilash' by Luis Zubillaga. They have had the opportunity to work alongside English Chamber Orchestra and in the recent production of 'Dido and Aeneas' as part of the ensemble, as well as for the musical theatre productions. They have also performed their usual recitals and concerts.... a busy year!!

You may also notice that this evenings concert is being recorded, with the kind permission of the Guards, as this is part of our students project work which contributes to their final degree.

This is just one of the many LCM Live events; LCM Sessions (5 April) (an evening of our brightest popular music students), our theatre productions 'Punk Rock' (13 - 16 April), 'Bad Girls' (20 - 23 April) and 'Assassins' (27 - 30 April) or one of our many classical lunchtime and evening recitals and concerts.

10 - 14 May is the Graduate Show 2016, when you have the opportunity to see graduate student work from across the whole of UWL through a range of exhibitions, performances, demonstrations, broadcasts, film and online - one not to miss!!!

I sincerely hope we see you at one of our wonderful events in the future, but for now enjoy this evenings concert.
